

Kabisa CSS Challenge - 2nd iteration

In this second assignment you are going to add a new section to the page you've built during your first assignment.

Notice that this section contains components that might look familiar, but differ a little from the ones you've built before: buttons with different colors, boxes with different colors and sizes.

Does this require completely new CSS or do you reuse existing styling?

O, and did you notice the vertical rhythm?

Welcome to my latest experiment
